SATURDAY 3/12 19.30

In this patriarchal society
I'm glad to have you as a sister

Once upon a time there lived a family* with five sisters in a village. Everything seemed to be going smoothly, but there was a problem. These sisters were naturally disobedient*.

While they had to stay at home, they preferred to go out. While they had to wear long dresses, they chose short ones. Instead of getting married, they made friends and had sex. Although they were told to keep quiet, they made some "noise"! And their noise bothered all the families which, apart from the children, gave birth to stereotypes and oppression. The sisters found it difficult to accept such a life. But they had each other... and their "noise" eventually became a story of solidarity, sharing and resistance. And this story continues today.

We stand against this rotten patriarchal system that wants our bodies locked up and isolated, that erects walls that keep us away from our desires, our sexual needs, our pleasure and our freedom.

ANO KATO PATISSION SQUAT
75 Naxou street (Koliatsou square)

We empower, care for and protect each other. We create safe spaces to house our feminist agendas as we fight for the destruction of this system that dominates our bodies and our lives.

Because only together can we break down the walls of our oppression.

Because it is only together that we can reclaim our bodies.

Because only together can we take back the dreams that have been stolen from us.

With one sister I can save myself with a hundred sisters, my voice could be heard with thousands of sisters I could turn this world upside down!

The word "family" derives from the greek words "οίκος" (=house) + "γίνομαι" (=to become). It is therefore the place where we learn what and how we should be in order to exist in any society. It is the first stage of the social formation and often mirrors the societies. Thus, in a patriarchal society we learn in the family how to behave as a "woman", the do's and don'ts and, of course, what is the destiny of a woman.*

The word "disobedient" characterizes those who do not discipline, do not obey*
